PE-RU-NA RECEIVES PRAISE

For Relieving Such Symptoms as Debility, Backache and Headache.

Mrs. Tressie Nelson, 609 North 5th Ave., Nashville, Tenn., writes: "As Peruna has done me a world of good I feel in duty bound to tell of it, in hopes that it may meet the eye of some who has suffered as I did. For five years I really did not know what a perfectly well day was, and if I did not have headache, I had backache or a pain somewhere and really life was not worth the effort I made to keep going.

"A good friend advised me to use Peruna and I was glad to try anything, and I am very pleased to say that six bottles made a new woman of me and I have no more pains and life looks bright again."

There are a great many phases of woman's ailments that require the assistance of the surgeon.

But by far the greatest number of such cases are amenable to correct medical treatment.

A vast multitude of women have been relieved from the ailments peculiar to their sex through the use of Peruna as prescribed by Dr. Hartman.

He receives many letters from all parts of the country relating to subjects of vital interest to womanhood.

Of the vast multitude of women Dr. Hartman treats annually, only a small per cent. of them consider it necessary to write to the Doctor at all.

While it is not affirmed that Peruna will relieve every case of this kind, it is certainly the part of wisdom for every woman so afflicted to give Peruna a fair trial.

MRS. JOSEPH LACELLE.

Mrs. Joseph Lacelle, 124 Bronson St., Ottawa, East, Ontario, Canada, writes: "I suffered with backache and headache for over nine months and nothing relieved me until I took Peruna. This medicine is by far better than any other medicine for these troubles. A few bottles relieved me of my miserable, half-dead, half-alive condition."

"I am now in good health, have neither ache nor pain, nor have I had any for the past year. If every suffering woman would take Peruna, they would soon know its value and never be without it."

Mrs. M. Kliner, 2648 E. 36th St., S. E., Cleveland, Ohio, writes:

"I am enjoying good health since taking your medicine. I had suffered for a good many years previous to taking Peruna, and ever since I can say that I do not know what headache or neuralgia is. I can most assuredly say that anybody afflicted with catarrh in any form can be cured by taking Peruna."

"Character" Witnesses.

In courts of law there are frequently called to the stand what are technically known as "character" witnesses. These witnesses are summoned either to impeach or to indorse some one's personal standing among his fellow men. The usual form of interrogatory in such cases is this:

"What is the man's reputation, among the people with whom he associates for truth and veracity? Is it good or bad?"

Mr. Cowherd's immense plurality, in his home city, at the primary of August 4th, is a convincing and sufficient reply to any question which can be made as to his character as a citizen and his reputation as a man.

In the community in which he has lived and mingled during the major portion of an honorable and distinguished career as lawyer and public servant, he has been overwhelmingly indorsed as their choice for Governor by a great majority of all the voters of his party.

The world over, a man is to be judged by the consensus of the personal opinions regarding him held by those who best know him.

No candidate for public office, in Missouri or any other commonwealth, ever received a more striking or more nearly unanimous indorsement from his neighbors and immediate fellow-citizens than has Mr. Cowherd. Those voters who do not themselves enjoy the personal acquaintance of Mr. Cowherd, or who have not been privileged to listen to him as a public speaker, possess in this verdict of his own home a sure touch-stone of his worth.

As a practitioner at the bar he has possessed the confidence of his clients and the respect of the bench. During his long and eminent service in the national legislature, no whisper of suspicion as to the uprightness of his motives ever was breathed by even his most active opponents.

Learned, profound, and experienced, dignified, astute and of consistent purpose—the Democratic nominee for Governor of Missouri will carry to the executive chair of this great State not only a high sense of duty to all the people but abilities of a shining quality, fitting him as a worthy successor to a chair which has been adorned by the executive eminence of a long line of Democratic predecessors.

William S. Cowherd will make a great Governor. He possesses unflinching devotion to what he believes to be the right, yet is constitutionally of that broad and liberal mind which will brush aside petty technicalities when it is evident that they are not expressive of the real will of the people.

Would Mortgage the Farm.

A farmer on Rural Route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by name, says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured the two worst sores I ever saw: one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 25c at Frank T. Clay's drug store.

Another Republican Claim Disproved.

Recently a Ft. Scott paper contained an article stating that Al Comstock, one of Vernon county's big farmers and stockmen, was going to vote for Taft and would use his influence for the Republican nominee. Mr. Comstock was in Nevada, and he was not only surprised but indignant when he learned that such a report had been published. Mr. Comstock says he is not only going to vote for Bryan and work for him, but is going to see Bryan elected.—Nevada Mail.

A Healthy Family.

"Our whole family has enjoyed good health since we began using Dr. King's New Life Pills, three years ago," says L. A. Bartlett, of Rural Route 1, Guilford, Maine. They cleanse and tone the system in a gentle way that does you good. 25c at Frank T. Clay's drug store.

The Missouri Press.

Since Wilbur Wright's feat in traversing sixty-one miles in his aeroplane after dark his rivals may refer to him as a mere fly-by-night.—Kansas City Times.

Taft, referring to Foraker, said he couldn't hit a man when he was down. And then Roosevelt took a punch at the prostrate Senator.—Springfield Leader.

In the recent State election in Maine the Democrats made a gain of 32 per cent over the last election. Straws show which way the wind is blowing.—Palmira Spectator.

Chairman Hitchcock has announced that the real speakers' campaign will not begin until October 1, on account of lack of funds. This is one blessing of the stringency hardly anticipated.—Joplin News-Herald.

Of course, the big bankers of New York are fighting the guaranteeing of bank deposits, for they know if this theory is carried out it will make the small banks of the country just as strong as they are.—Memphis Democrat.

At a scientific banquet in Milwaukee one of the speakers said that seaweeds would some day feed the world. And if prices continue to advance the world will be glad to eat any old kind of a weed.—Louisiana Press-Journal.

Explain it away as they will, it nevertheless remains very apparent that National Chairman Hitchcock has been shunted to a side track by the Republican managers, while Senator Crane is in charge of the special on the main line.—Kansas City Post.

To add to its other misfortunes Russia is now being visited by a terrible scourge of cholera which is carrying away hundreds of victims each day. Surely the "little father" has cause to bow his head in grief. The world extends its sympathy to the stricken people.—St. Joseph Gazette.

Strongly For Stone.

The Hale Hustler-Leader, which supported Ball for Governor, is equally ardent for Stone. This serves to illustrate the fallacy of the Folk claim that the Ball vote will go to the Governor. The Hale paper had this to say last week:

"Enemies of Mr. Stone can call him 'Gum Shoe Bill' if they want to, yet they are bound to acknowledge that he is one of the strongest men in the United States Senate and an honor to the State which he represents."

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until today we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal plants for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases. It is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvelous in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of women's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of unimpeachable testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhal, pelvic, ovarian, uterine, menstrual, prolapsus and other disorders, and who are now enjoying perfect health, vigor and happiness. This medicine is purely vegetable, and is built for the purpose. Both men and women are benefited by it, and all who are afflicted with any of the above named ailments are urged to obtain a bottle of this medicine at once.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs, and are of the most perfect and reliable character.

The Onlooker.

Great mistake to allow Senator Foraker to retire from the campaign. He might have been kept to the front as a horrible example.

Seems incredible that Ferdinand P. Earle should have whipped his second wife. He always held that an affinity couldn't be beat.

Some of the Republican bosses, in response to Colonel Bryan's question, stand ready to make affidavits that the people are ruling right now.

Bit strange that on the day Colonel Bryan arrived in New York Luna, the big elephant in the Bronx Park, sent forth unearthly trumpeting and went on the rampage.

A special meeting has been called to install Senator Foraker as president of the Found Out Lodge of the Order Not Yet But Soon, and there is considerable stir in the parent organization.

Let's see. The steam roller can now be cleaned up and oiled and put away for the rest of the year, but the big stick and the brotherless spear may as well be kept behind the door, where they will be handy.

That remark by the Newburg Ice Man, "You can't beat somebody with nobody," should be framed and placed in Republican headquarters and a copy, done in wood work, sent to the state chairman to be hung in the front parlor next the "God Bless Our Home" piece.

Ball Men For Stone.

Idorado Sun.

In answer to the question: "Are the Ball men supporting Stone for Senator?" Hon. J. H. Davidson made the following explanation:

"Yes, I voted for Dave Ball for governor at our late primary and was a supporter of Governor Folk for governor four years ago, but I am most positively in favor of Senator Stone for U. S. Senator at this time. I believe in following democratic precedent, if the precedent is good. Neither Senator Cockrell nor Vest had any opposition in their own party when a candidate, to succeed themselves, during their long term in the U. S. Senate. The official record of Stone is good; his ability is unquestioned; why turn him down. I venture to say if the Republicans succeed in carrying this state and Hadley is elected governor that he will not be so ambitious as to be a candidate to succeed Warner in the U. S. Senate. And I am not the only Ball man by many in this county that is for Stone."

Why I Am For Stone.

A prominent Cedar county democrat writes to the Eldorado Sun as follows:

"Editor of the Sun:—In answer to the question as to how I stand for U. S. Senator, I will say that I am for W. J. Stone for the reason I think Gov. Folk should have waited two years and then tried to succeed Senator Warner, who is a republican. Four years ago I was a loyal supporter of Gov. Folk, and I endorse his administration. I also endorse the record of Senator Stone and think he should succeed himself for the democracy for over twenty years."

"In the August primary, I supported D. A. Ball for governor, but now I am just as loyally supporting Mr. Cowherd for that position. I voted for Grover Cleveland three times and have voted for W. J. Bryan twice and am anxious to vote for him the third time."

Stopping Fence Climbers.

Turkeys and certain breeds of chickens are difficult to restrain because of their propensity to fly over fences even when above average height. Clipping the wings is often resorted to in order to prevent fence climbing. One writer suggests an easier and more effective means than wing clipping to tie the wings together with a soft string. It is slipped under the wings and over the back. It will not hurt the hen unless she attempts to spread her wings to fly, and then she finds she can't do it.—Ruralist.

A SHAKY FOUNDATION.

How Woman Infatuates Man.

In the October American Magazine Professor W. I. Thomas, of Chicago University, begins a series of articles on women. On the subject of woman's power to infatuate man Prof. Thomas says, in his first article:

"Man has always insisted that woman shall be better than he is, or at any rate, that he shall limit her immorality to such forms as he does not greatly disapprove. There has, in fact, been developed a particular code of morals to cover the peculiar case of woman. This may be called a morality of the person and of the bodily habits, as contrasted with the commercial and public morality of man. Purity, constancy, reserve and devotion are the qualities in woman which please and flatter the jealous male; and woman has responded to these demands both really and seemingly. Without any consciousness of what she is doing (for all moral traditions fall in the general psychological region of habits) she acts in the manner which makes her most pleasing to men. She also constitutes herself the most strict censor of that morality which has become traditionally associated with woman, naively insists that her sisters shall play well within the game, and throws the first stone at any woman who bids for the favor of men by overstepping the limits of modesty. The means of attraction she employs are so highly elaborated, and her technique is so finished, that she is really more active courtship than man. By dress, modesty, coquetry, indifference and occasional boldness, and by 'lying low and letting the imagination of the male endow her with depth,' she plays at once on the protective instinct and the vanity of man, and infatuates him. He does the courting, but she controls the process."

Edison's Glowing Prophecy.

Pittsburg Dispatch.

Mr. Thomas A. Edison's forecast of the future of aerial navigation lacks nothing in the quality of optimism. Within five years, according to Mr. Edison, we will be able to get into the 9 p. m. flyer in New York and arrive in Paris for a late lunch the next afternoon. Also a forty-hour trip to the North Pole will be a welcome alleviation of the heated term.

As the speed which Mr. Edison's reported to predict for airships is double that of the most savage hurricane it is expected that the aviation of the future will outfly the winds. Also, as this is to be achieved not by aeroplanes of the Wright brothers' type, nor by dirigible balloons, such as Zeppelin guides, but by the automatic action of principles yet to be discovered, it is evident that the progress of invention must anticipate the swiftness of the things to be invented.

All of which will be interesting and delightful when Mr. Edison's sanguine prophecies are realized. Nevertheless, it occurs to the disinterested observer that Mr. Edison cannot permit revolutionary changes to fully eventuate before he completes one long-advertised change. The 200-mile-an-hour flyer should not draw off his attention from the introduction to the public of that much-promised storage battery which will place the smokeless and odorless automobile within the means of quite ordinary people.

Tuesday the little daughter of Chas. Vogt near Papinville was playing on the fence at school and accidentally fell off. Another little girl fell on top of her, tearing three ribs loose from the breast bone and fracturing one over the heart. Dr. Short was called and pronounced the injury serious but not fatal. We called up and learned that she was doing nicely and was in a fair way to recover.—Rockville Booster.

Not Coughing Today?

Yet you may cough tomorrow! Better be prepared for it when it comes. Ask your doctor about keeping Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. Then when the hard cold or cough first appears you have a doctor's medicine at hand. Your doctor's approval of its use will certainly set all doubt at rest. Do as he says. He knows. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Robust health is a great safeguard against attacks of throat and lung troubles, but constipation will destroy the best of health. Ask your doctor about Ayer's Pills.
